

Accreditation

Accreditation for CHIMA, RCSPC and CFPC

Standards: Show, Share and Celebrate Success and the Standards Collaborative Education Summit have received accreditation from CHIMA, the Canadian Health Information Management Association, and from the RCPSC, the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada.

Members of CHIMA may apply for up to 27 credits for Standards: Show, Share and Celebrate Success and up to 24 credits for the Education Summit. These continuing professional development credits do qualify as HIM-related activities. For more information about CHIMA, please visit their website at www.echima.ca

McMaster University's Continuing Health Science Education program has also accredited both Standards: Show, Share and Celebrate Success, as well as the Standards Collaborative Education Summit for CME credits for our clinical members and attendees. Under the RCPSC Maintenance of Certification (MainCert) Program category II, attendees may receive 5.5 credits for attendance at the plenary sessions on Day 1: April 7th, 2008; as well as up to 6.5 credits per day, course dependent, for the Education Summit.

The credits are awarded as below. Please take note of these credits for submission.
